

Modern-Day Huck

Gary Pipkin of Lyme leans back leisurely against the mast of his wooden raft as the craft floats down the Connecticut River. Pipkin was one of several modern-day "Huckleberry Finns" who traveled downstream from Deep River to Notts Island in Essex recently in a race to benefit the American Cancer Society (Bass Photo).

1975